SUN BEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

Despite the suddeness and unusual intensity of the storm which has lashed the upper Sierra for the past two weeks, maintenance crews on state highways, railroads, telephone and power services have done a good job. Everything humanly possible to keep uninterrupted service was done and night and day the crews worked in the storm battling odds which only Mother Nature can offer. Occasionally service was delayed as it is impossible to watch every foot of the lines at all times, but these delays were not long in duration and this was due only to the fight put up by the men in charge of the work. No thoughts of strike, demands for higher pay or requests for better conditions probably never entered their heads. They gave thought only to the big job at hand. They are earning the appreciation which should be expressed.

We wonder if boys and girls playing basketball in rubber soled shoes would damage the new grammar school auditorium any more than dancers in rough soled ski boots. It is just a thought.

They tell us that in years gone by one of the old pioneers here used a wooden snow plow with a single horse attached to keep all the roads in Truckee (even the one to the high school) open all winter. Are we slipping in this modern day and age with all our motorized equipment or are we "sissies?"

We admire the nerve of a man who can strap himself to a pair of skiis and trek over 15 miles of snow just to do a good turn for a neighbor When his neighbor needed medicine and other friends were anxiously awaiting letters from loved ones Harry Johanson of Tahoe did just that. He skiied from Tahoe into Truckee and after a short rest and food, made the return trip.

This is truely a country where the nerve and energy of men is given the acid test.

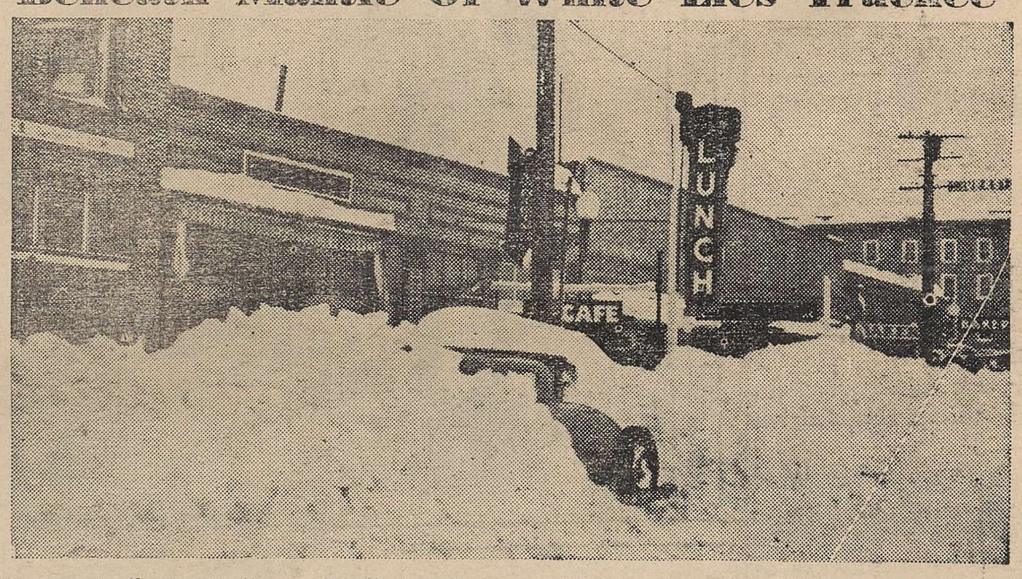
Beneath Mantle Of White Lies Truckee



Cars assume the proportions of miniature snow hills, business houses hide behind great drifts and the entire main street of Truckee loses its perspective as the result of the heavy snowfall. The above picture was taken last Sunday on the east end of Commercial Row and gives a fair idea of the depth. —Bee Photo

Express Carried On Hand Sled as Streets Blocked

There is an old saw about where there's a will there's a way.

We gave it little thought until this week when we saw it in practice. The Truckee agent for the Railway Express Company, Tom Dolley, had a will to deliver his shipments as usual, but for finding a way, he was temporarily stumped. Then a way presented itself and with a heavy hand-drawn sled, Agent Dolley and his assistant, Erwin Waters, went to work.

Over huge drifts, the two propelled their sled, piled high with bundles. At times the job was almost too much when night fell and paths were obscured, but they kept the shipments on the move and the express was delivered on time.

Parent Teachers Make Plans For Founders' Fete

Program Will Be Given Here February 18 At School

The Truckee Union P. T. A. is making preparations to honor Founders Day by a special program on February 18 at the grammar school. The reverence with which Mrs. Alice M. Birney and Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst, the founders of the Parent Teachers movement, are held by thousands who are following the trail which they blazed more than four decades ago is evidenced in the elaborate nation-wide preparations for programs to be presented as near as possible to the original date of the first national Congress February 17, 1897.

Mrs. Burt, the district chairman, sends the following message throughout the Third District:

"Founders Day is closely bound up with and is an aid to the successful functioning of the entire program of work. The intelligent and inspirational observance is an occasion of joy and gladness.

"In tribute to our founders we rear no monument place, no wreath strew no flowers, our tribute is a thought inspired by love that brought the Parent Teacher movement into being throught embodied and expressed in generous giving. In Alice Birney it was a gift of personal leadership that gave the thought its form. In Phoebe Hearst it was the gift of not only council but money without which vision and enthusiasm could not have been wrought into a national congress of Parent Teachers. At each program since a silver offering is taken to be used for extension work. Thus we may all contribue to a cause so worthy of support."

TAHOE SCHOOL IS SLATED TO OPEN ON FEBRUARY 14

Mrs. Bliss Hinkle who has been in New Mexico, telephoned Tuesday to advise Tahoe residents that high school there is scheduled to reopen on February 14.

ANOTHER STORM SWEEPS IN TO BLOCK TRAFFIC

Wind, Rain and Snow Added To Severe Storm of Last Week

TRAVELERS MAROONED

Tahoe Road Blocked Week By Slides, Drifts; End By Saturday

Sweeping in on the wake of the storm of last week which deposited a total of 10 feet of snow in this region in six days, a second storm reaching hurricane proportions struck here Tuesday night and was continuing with unabated fury today.

The storm is one which swept in from the Pacific, lashing the coast from San Luis Obispo to the Oregon line, leaving at least five dead and causing millions of dollars worth of damage.

All communication over telephone telegraph and teletype between the Donner Summit and Sacramento was paralyzed as the hurricane wind on the west slope of the Sierra and in the valleys uprooted trees and toppled poles like tenpins. While service on telephone and telegraph was continued uninterrupted east of here and as far west as Baxters, the situation was hard to control and crews are working night and day to keep the lines servicable.

Traffic over Donner Summit was stopped by the storm and scores of trucks and cars were marooned in Truckee awaiting for the storm to abate.

The state rotary opened the road to Tahoe City this morning after a hard fight with slides and drifts, but upon returning to the main highway the crew reported the road filled up behind the plow almost as fast as it was cleared, leaving the road still blocked.

The road to Reno was closed for hours at a time, but the state crews were working hard to keep traffic moving under control.

Trains over the Southern Pacific were continuing, sometimes behind schedule a short time, but late today it was reported the road was still open and that traffic was not being stopped. Huge rotaries operated on both tracks from Emigrant Gap to east of Truckee. Dangers from slides were imminent, but the situation was being watched carefully.

The storm since yesterday morning put 13 inches of new snow on the already high pack, making a total of 128 inches of snow since January 30, according to the U. S. Forest Service, which maintains instruments here. The precipitation for the storm since yesterday morning was 1.14 inches.

The total precipitation for the year, starting September 1 is 26.78 inches, 10.19 inches over normal.

Predictions this morning were the storm would continue until Saturday with possibly clearing weather for Friday night.

Hobart Mills has been snowed in since last Wednesday, the only communication from the outside being the mail which was carried in by Roy Waters and Leroy Wilson on Sunday. It took the men five hours to make the trip in the soft snow.

Waters returned to Truckee Sunday evening, but Wilson remained overnight to return the mail Monday.

PHILLIP KEARNEY ON CLASS HONOR ROLL AT ST. MARY'S

Kearney is a member of the Alpha Pi Gamma Upsilol, campus society recent contributor to the Brick Pile, student literary magazine, by writing an essay, "The Donner Party," and also is a member of the Collegian staff, student publication.

Giant Rotaries Eat Snow In Battle Over Summit

Monsters Hurl Snow From Track To Keep Traffic Moving Despite Storms

Through 15 feet of packed snow cutting like a sharp knife through butter, huge rotaries keep the Southern Pacific tracks between Emigrant Gap and Truckee as smooth as a boulevard.

With seeming effortless energy, but at the same time exemplifying their tremenduous power, the gigantic machines bite into the huge drifts chew their icy mouthsful and hurl them like picturesque waterfalls far into the caverns below the grade.

A sight never to be forgotten may be viewed near Donner Summit when, following a storm, black billows of smoke shoot skyward from the powerful locomotives which propel the rotaries, preceeded by the white clouds as the snow, whipped by the sharp blades of the wrirling rotary, are shot well over 100 feet into the air, spraying down as it tumbles far to the right of the rails.

The plows are capable of cutting a swath 17 feet across and equally as high.

Minute signals are passed between the crew of the plow and the men in the pushing locomotive. These signals tell, almost as plainly as words, the speed wanted, the condition of the track ahead and other details vital to the working of the great monsters which are handled with the ease of well trained horses in the hands of capable drivers.

Never is there lost motion or effort. The side blades or wings of the plow are adjusted by hand, widening out when desired, narrowing when the occasion demands, but always pushing forward, mauling tons upon tons of snow from the tracks, leaving them bare of snow and ice and safe for following trains.

Highly trained men only are permitted to operate the rotaries. They must learn to see where vision is virtually impossible. With the wind blowing alternate snow, smoke and steam into their faces from the small aperature provided for seeing ahead they must never take their eyes off the trail ahead, they must watch intently for slides, approaching block signals, gauge carefully the depth of the snow, its weight and texture and and the same time keep a rigid watch on the numerous controls by which the speed of the plow, revolutions of the spinning blades, and communication with the engineers are constantly maintained.

The Southern Pacific has just reason to be proud of its snow equipment and the men who operate it.

A COUNTY LIBRARY

The Truckee Chamber of Commerce this week went on record in favor of the Parent Teachers Association's drive to secure a Nevada County library.

The Chamber of Commerce did what every other local organization should do, but just going on record or signing a petition will not get the library. True, it is a step in the right direction, but only a step. We all are vitally aware of the need for a library, a branch of which should be brought to Truckee, and we should all be willing to express ourselves in this matter, but mere expression isn't going to do the trick. Unincorporated as we are, we are handicapped in our effort to put over a local project. We have no local seat of government and cannot, therefore offer a united voice in issues.

If, therefore, we want the library, we must exert every means in our power. We must do it through outside aid, we must point out to others the need for the library, the low cost of such an institution, the fact that this is one of a few counties in the state not enjoying the benefits of such an institution and keep plugging, working and insisting. Then we may get somewhere, but don't get the idea that because your name is on a petition or your organization has gone on record favoring the plan that your part is done. That marks only a small beginning. Let's all plug together, if we want a library and keep plugging until we get one.

It leaves a bad impression when we start something we can't finish.

OUR HELPING HAND

Nearly every time some distant or remote organization finds that it can be benefitted by this or that proposal or idea it broadcasts letters to kindred groups throughout the state or nation asking endorcement and urging that support be given. The Truckee Chamber of Commerce is besieged by such requests and often extends a helping hand.

When the occasion is reversed, however, we are too often neglected. When we want something we get it "the hard way."

The request has just been made that we write our senator congressman and everyone else with authority to urge an appropriation for the forest service to repair the great damage caused by recent floods. We go on record as being entirely in favor of this. We realize the need for the appropriation and join in urging the money to replace the damage.

But we also want our portion of that appropriation. We want our own snow sport area developed, we want many things as part of the great national forests. We want only our share and in endorcing the financing of further developments, we should do so only with this thought in mind. It may be more blessed to give than receive, but receiving is necessary occasionally if we are to survive.

LONG DISTANCE annihilates time and space. It's far too enjoyable and practical to use just for emergencies. Call your dearest friends and give them pleasure now!

From 7 p.m. to 4:30 a.m. and all day Sundays, especially attractive NIGHT rates are in effect to most Long Distance points.

Politically Speaking

By Jack Welter
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 10.— (UP)— Voters interested in the departmental organization of state government will have an opportunity to express themselves next November.

California's two major automobile associations have promised them this opportunity with announcement that they will circulate petitions placing on the general electio nballot a constitutional amendment which would revolutionize the system of administering highway affairs, both from a standpoint of construction and regulation.

Every city and conuty which wants a new road or bridge, every prospective applicant for a drivers license and every motorist who expects to get a ticket from a state traffic cop will be affected by or interested in the issue to some degree.

The associations' proposal would take the more important functions of the state department of motor vehicles and the department of public works away from them and vest them in a five man state highway commission, which in itself is a new conception.

Instead of the present commission of non-salaried highway commissioners, the motorist organizations would substitute five salaried officers. These men would devote their entire time to the job.

Principal argument for this change is the associations' contention that the present system of administering highway affairs has not been changed fundamentally for 25 years and is sadly outmoded.

Under this new State Highway and Traffic Safety Commission, its proponents argue, highway construction and maintenance and promotion may be correlated much more efficiently.

From the department of public works, this commission would take the duty of constructing and maintaining highways of the state system. From the motor vehicle department it would strip jurisdiction over the division of drivers' licenses and the highway patrol. With these functions gone, only skeletons would be left of th two departments which now rank among the state's most important.

The automobile clubs propose to make the new commissioners gubernatorial appointees, but would make their appointment subject to approval by the state senate, stagger their terms and provide that no more than three shall be of the same political party and require proper training and experience of appointees.

This they contend, would provide for continuity in highway policies remove highway affairs as far as possible from political and other detrimental influences.

Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly, faced with this possibility of turmoil in his department, is not unduly concerned, so far, at least, as his personal situation is involved.

Kelly feels that if Gov. Merriam is reelected and the constitutional amendment approved, he is reasonably sure to remain as a member of the new commission if he desires. On the other hand if Merriam is defated he'll be out anyway.

Departmental reorganization is only one of the situations plaguing the motor vehicle department, however.

The California State automobile association, one of the department's most frequent critics, accused the division of drivers' licenses with fingerprinting license applicants contrary to action of the 1937 legislature in rejecting a proposal to make such printing mandatory.

Paul Mason, chief of the division admitted applicants were not formally notified in some instances, but said employees were under orders to make it plain fingerprinting was optional.

The association charged that applicants were given the impression that it is necessary to be fingerprinted to obtain a license.

Finally, Director Ray Ingels and his lieutenants conceivably may observe New York's license plate situation with misgivings. New York state automobile officials suffered considerable criticism, even to the point of law suits, when they issued license plates bearing an advertisement for the New York World's fair

Caught between demands of San Francisco interests and his own personal desires to keep all advertising off California plates, Ingels found the pressure so great that he agreed California's 1939 plates shall be blue and gold and bear the slogan, "California World's Fair 1939."

It's easy to be broadminded in matters that affect us slightly or not at all.

BILLS PASS HOUSE TO ADD LAND TO NATIONAL FORESTS

The house public lands committee approved three bills last week by Representative Harry Englebright prc viding for the exchange of state and federal lands which would add more than 800,000 acres to six California national forests.

The first bill would increase Klamath and Shasta Forests by more than 400,000 acres, the second would add 218,420 acres to the Tahoe National, Lassen and Plumas forests, while the third would make an addition of approximately 177,670 acres to Lassen, Modoc and Shasta forests.

FOUR MEN ESCAPE TRAGEDY IN BOAT IN TAHOE STORM

TAHOE CITY, Feb. 10.— A narrow escape from death in the icy waters of Lake Tahoe was experienced by four well known local residents on Saturday when Bud Slater, Constable Harry Johanson, Joseph White and James Ferguson attempted to negotiate the four mile trip from Slater's to Tahoe City in an outboard motor boat.

While a quarter of a mile off the shore a sudden squall struck and the boat was almost submerged by the huge waves which swept over it.

The four men managed to bring the floundering craft to shore and found themselves in nine feet of loose snow.

With their clothing freezing to their bodies they beat their way to the nearest caretaker's home, that of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Sisk of Tahoe Park where they thawed out and received nourishment. After spending the night the four borrowed snow shoes and went to their homes.

FOUR SNOWBOUND BAY RESIDENTS RESCUED IN TAHOE CITY AREA

Four Berkeley residents who had been snowbound in a cabin near Tahoe City were freed earlied this week when a snow plow broke a path to their door and a neaby highway.

A party of news photographers at Rainbow Tavern reported that they were marooned between Baxters and the Tavern, but suffered no discomfoture before they were rescued.

Fault finders do not improve the world, they only make it seem worse than it really is.

RECORD SNOWFALL AT TAHOE PUTS 112 INCHES ON LEVEL

TAHOE CITY, Feb. 10.— With over 88 inches of snow on the ground at Tahoe City Tuesday morning, the Lake Tahoe district was temporariiy marooned with excessive snowfall, huge drifts and deep slides blocking all highways leading to the famous resort.

A total of 112 inches of snow fell during the storm with a total precipitation of 7.73 inches. The lake level rose six inches to a total of 6625.12.

No mail could be taken to Tahoe for five days because of the condition of the road but the veteran carrier, James McIver, Jr., Tuesday made his way in with the first class pouch and medicine.

Advertise it in the Sierra Sun.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hevel of this district whi spent the earlier part of the winter season in Woodland, returned to their home just in time for the big snow storm. They have opened their home here for the remainder of the winter.

This Week At The State Capitol

By JOHN ABBOTT
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 10.— (UP)— The California state automobile association furnished the week's outstanding news with a renewal of its long standing fued with the state motor vehicle department over finger printing applicants for drivers' licenses.

Methods employed by examiners convey the impression the fingerprinting is compulsory, the association charged, "when such is not the case."

Paul Mason, chief of the driver's license division, admitted fingerprinting is performed whenever possible but denied strong arm methods were being used.

Assemblyman William Hornblower of San Francisco, no friend of motor vehicle director Ray Ingels, has entered the controversy with a rousing blast supporting the association.

"Disregarding failure of his fingerprinting proposal in the legislature Director Ingels has proceeded to adopt a form of license application bearing a specifically designated place for the applicant's thumb print," Hornblower asserted.

"In doing so Ingels is plainly seeking to circumvent the legislature and to flout the overwhelming public opinion which has displayed against the plan during the legislative session."

Chairman J. L. Matthews of the State Unemployment Reserves Commission predicted the unemployment fund would pay $30,000,000 in benefits before May 15, voiced his confidence that the account could meet its first severe test.

Benefit checks averaging $10 weekly cannot be paid until February 14 at the earliest, officials said. They explained applicants must certify to a fifth week of employment after they have passed the four week waiting period.

Governor Frank F. Merriam again insisted there would be a special session of the legislature but refused to set a definite date. Most likely guess was March 1.

The governor said the attroney general had filed suits to protect the state's interest in the Wilmington tideland oil development. The governor believed the session will be required to enact protective legislation covering the tideland question.

Merriam performed what many considered smart politics by reappointing Sheriff Daniel C. Murphy of San Francisco to the state board of education. Murphy is a democrat and a potential starter in the race for the governorship.

Also renamed to the board was Armistead B. Carter of San Diego The governor said their work merited official recognition and public commendation.

The state pardon board recommended against a pardon for any of the seven Modesto dynamiters convicted of illegal possession of explosives during the 1935 oil tanker strike.

To conruct a comprehensive flood study in cooperation with other agencies, the state planning board requested the governor to appropriate $50,000. The work would be undertaken in conjunction with the U. S engineering survey.

Official figures of the state motor vehicle department placed the 1937 California traffic death toll at 3,139 seven in excess of the 1936 total of 3,132.

License plates in 1939 will carry a slogan advertising the Golden Gate International Exposition at San Francisco, it was announced. The tags will carry the inscription, California World's Fair 1939.

Direct relief or dole payments to combat unemployment have cost the state $140,000,000, including the $48,000,000 appropriated by the 1937 legislature, which will run out at the end of the next biennium.

Controller Harry B. Riley revealed the state total is exclusive of $170,000,000 in federal relief funds and does not include interest charges.

The state has recovered approximately $1,500,000 from persons who were ruled ineligible and outright chiselers.

New Senator Takes Oath of Office

Mrs. M. T. Edwards, left, notary public, is shown above as she administers the oath of office to A. Evan Reames, newly appointed successor to Oregon's U. S. Senator Frederick Steiwer, resigned. The ceremony took place in Reames' "home town" of Medford, Ore., as old friends looked on and offered congratulations.

CALIFORNIANS PAY BIG SUM FOR THEIR DRINKING

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 10.—(UP) — For the second consecutiveyear, Californians during 1937 paid more than $2,000,000 taxes for the privilege of drinking beer and wine, the state board of equalization reported.

Total beverage taxes collected by the board during the year totalled $2,024,291.38, $93.72 less than the total for the preceding year.

Good Lighting IS GOOD POLICY!

Better Light for Better Sight

IT IS good policy to check up on your lighting at least once a month. Replace lamp bulbs that have grown dim. Fill up the empty sockets and replace the small sized bulbs in floor and table lamps before headaches and eyestrain develop.

It is good policy, too, to see that the light on your porch or basement stairs is really good light. Most dangerous falls on stairs are caused by a misstep due to shadows and poor light. In the kitchen many cuts and burns might be avoided if just a little better light was by the kitchen sink or stove.

Good floor and table lamps today are inexpensively priced. Prices of lamp bulbs in sight-saving sizes are lower than ever and the reduced electric rates make better lighting a truly low cost monthly item. Check over the lighting in your home today.

DOG NEAR STARVED FOUND AFTER HE ABANDONS FRIENDS

Sheba, 11-year-old dog belonging tc Mrs. Gherda Kvistberg, was found nearly starved on her doorstep after the recent storm. The animal had been left in the care of neighbors but Sheba apparently became home sick and being unable to express the idea to her friends slipped out and disappeared.

Search was made as well as possible in the bad weather, but to no avail until an inspection of Mrs Kvistberg's home was being made.

Continuity of Benefits

SOMETIMES we hear people say, when they have just received some concrete benefit, that it cannot last, and that they will soon suffer some calamity to counteract the good received. This is the result of ignorance of the cause, nature, and purpose of the beneficial effects which we experience. It is due to the false belief that evil is as real and powerful as good. . . .

John tells us (1 John 2:17), that "he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever." Now the prospect of abiding forever would not be very satisfactory if we had to continue forever experiencing calamity, discord, and suffering. Evidently John's sense of immortality included health, joy, harmony, that is, perfection, not intermittently but continuously. In real being there is a steady and uninterrupted manifestation of that which is wholly beneficial. Whatever else seems to have existence appears only as a mistake, a misconception. The real spiritual universe, including man, is maintained and governed by the ever-operative divine Principle, the source of all that is beneficial. Mary Baker Eddy says (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, p. 124), "Spirit is the life, substance, and continuity of all things." Since Spirit could not be the source of aught that is harmful or oppressive, it is apparent that discords are illusions, not actualities.

Christ Jesus was always willing and able to benefit mankind in whatever way seemed necessary, and his acts were in accord with spiritual law and order. He was able to heal the sick, give sight to the blind, and raise the dead, because he refused to recognize any interruption in the spiritual order and continuity of harmony and perfection. The Bible tells us (Proverbs 28:10) that "the upright shall have good things in possession;" so Jesus cast out evil from human thought, and wrought untold benefits for humanity. Health, peace, joy, and prosperity are natural, and their manifestation in experience is inevitable when we consistently express the qualities which support them, namely, honesty, goodness, righteousness, and spiritual understanding. It is our privilege to protect ourselves and our affairs by knowing that there is no law operating in opposition to our well-being; that there is no power apart from eternal Love; that perfection is an established and provable fact.

We may deprive ourselves of a great many benefits by a misconception of our true spiritual nature. God is the creator of perfect man, and this spiritual man is the indestructible and ceaseless expression of omnipresent Soul. Everything man possesses or reflects he derives from immortal Life and Love. Mrs. Eddy states (Science and Health, p. 325), "When spiritual being is understood in all its perfection, continuity, and might, then shall man be found in God's image." This is scientific reasoning which reveals the unbroken line of beneficent activities that are inherent in true consciousness and expressed in the ideal man. As we rid ourselves of the old, worn-out concept of man as material and mortal, we put on the true or new man with all the attendant benefits. The ever-available Christ-idea inspires us to relinquish the false concept of God, man, and the universe which is responsible for a limited, intermittent, and uncertain sense of harmony, satisfaction, and peace.

We derive unceasing benefit only from that which inspires us to spiritual thinking and living, for this is the only way by which we come to regard good as more normal than evil, and so escape the penalties exacted by the belief of evil as real. This is the only way by which we can maintain the true thinking which unfailingly contributes to the highest ends of life. . . .

Reaction, relapse, and retrogression are human concepts, which can never hinder or stop the continuous and eternal unfoldment of infinite Truth, from which emanates all that is constructive and beneficial. It is normal for us to be happy and healthy; and the law of divine Mind is ever-operative and available to establish harmony in individual consciousness and experience.—The Christian Science Monitor.
